Building a Better BRITAIN

Is Hybrid Working the Future?

As brighter days seem to be on the horizon and the journey towards building a better Britain begins, what does the world of work post COVID look like?

Two thirds of employees expect there to be a permanent shift towards hybrid working and, with 80% of businesses trusting staff to be productive when they work from home, could the way we work be changing forever?

Pre-COVID

Three in four employees worked from home less than one day a week.

Just 13% of all employees worked from home more than three days a week.

Now

85% of employees say their work/life balance has improved or stayed the same in the last three months as a result of homeworking.

After COVID

Two thirds of employees expect there to be a permanent shift towards hybrid working.

30% of employees expect to work from home at least four days a week.

25% think homeworking will make up the majority of their working week.

53% of businesses are thinking about downsizing their offices as they shift to a hybrid working practice.
